All people must keep up traditions, because they're our life.

In the Russia on the birthdays people give presents to the birthday's person. The his or her family cook a lot of delicious food and drinks. The main course a big cake with candles, which we must blow. In New year we put funny costumes on and go around the Christmas tree. In the UK people every day celebrate Christmas. They go to the church with candles and give other people presents. But in the Russia don't all people celebrate this holiday. That's awful!

This traditions very interesting and we must keep them!
